

Saturday, 4th May 2019

The Etches Collection & Kimmeridge Bay

Leader: Graham Hickman, Bath Geological Society

The Etches collection in the Museum of Jurassic marine life is the largest, single collection of Kimmeridge fossils in the UK. Graham Hickman will lead our visit to Kimmeridge Bay, SSI, in the morning where most of the collection was discovered. We will have lunch in Kimmeridge, and after lunch will visit the Museum.

Meet at the Bay car park for 11 am. Car park fee: £5.00. Museum entrance fee: £6.00 per person (min.10 people), otherwise £8.00 per person (includes 12 months complimentary admission to The Etches Collection), and free parking.

Further details from the Bath Geological Society Field Trips Secretary field@bathgeolsoc.org.uk

01249 443019